Labor Temps Partners with HR Insights to Enhance Staffing Service Package

Agreement brings human resources management tools to staffing customers

CHICAGO, Illinois. March 15, 2010 – Labor Temps, a leader in Chicago-area industrial staffing services, announces a strategic partnership with HR Insights, Ltd., a provider of online human resources tools and support for businesses. Labor Temps customers can now get a discount off of HRI's annual membership fee.

Companies are turning more and more to online tools and assistance for getting things done. In recognition of this trend, Labor Temps is bringing its customers the ability to subscribe to HRInsights at a discounted rate, giving them access to a comprehensive set of online HR tools, supplemented by unlimited access to professional advisors for one year. "We are excited to be chosen as a partner by Labor Temps. Their staffing services are a perfect complement to the fundamental HR tools provided by HRInsights", said Shaun Emerson, CEO of HR Insights. The relationship with HRInsights will help Labor Temps customers implement HR policies throughout their business and address a wide variety of HR issues that may arise at any point in an employee's life cycle, for both temporary and full-time staff. A 2009 survey of buyers of human resources services conducted by a human resources website showed that HR buyers now search the internet more than they use peers to get information. Nearly 30% said they use an internet search engine daily to search for HR information. Getting HR information on the internet is easy with HRInsights, which provides a comprehensive suite of decision tools, information and forms in one convenient place on the web at www.hrinsights.com. Companies can get the information they're looking for on the web in one spot rather than wasting time searching around among many different websites.

As a provider of staffing services, including cutting edge technology for tracking and managing the workforce, Labor Temps is uniquely qualified to evaluate HR tools. "One of the most significant challenges we face is risk mitigation and the continued challenges facing organizations from a human resource perspective. We have partnered with a company that can help address these areas in a flexible and cost effective manner", said Phil McMahon, President of Labor Temps. McMahon's philosophy includes researching and recommending value added resources to his customers. Labor Temps recently implemented HRInsights for its own use. "We have found this tool to be extremely helpful in running our own business and believe it will be a great tool for our customers", added McMahon.

In these days of doing more with less, anything that reduces the time needed for researching and implementing business improvement tools is valuable. The partnership between Labor Temps and HR Insights demonstrates this, providing added value to staffing services customers with online human resources tools and support at a discount.
